educators

in addition to his customary role of school principal as viewed by the students, mr. barr served on the board of directors of the teachers association of anne arundel county. likewise, he was a member of a committee which studied the present high school day and planned its revisions. due to the effort of mr. barr, gains were continually made in establishing computer scheduling with the school's own equipment.

at the same time, the responsibility of mr. cremeans, the assistant principal, was to uphold the school rules and policies.

advising student council and interclub council were only extra-curricular activities of mr. shipley, the administrative assistant. directing data processing, issuing report cards and supervising student behavior composed his duties.

the task of evaluating, improving and maintaining the curriculum was the function of mr. white. frequently, this involved consulting county supervisors and contacting test and book companies.

as night school principal, mr. knox directed those adults who were earning their high school diploma, also, adult education programs in classes such as stenography and sewing.

guidance prepares students for future personal educational guidance was among many of the services offered by the counselors this year. administering of scholastic aptitude test and national merit scholarship was accomplished along with the preparation of thousands of transcripts for college bound seniors.

macbeth placed on trial by senior english students macbeth was acquitted by mrs. fisher's period f english iv class after being tried for the murder of duncan. supplementing the customary reading of shakespeare's macbeth, the trial served as an enjoyable and meaningful diversion for the seniors.

likewise, miss cook's period c class departed from the typical chronological reading of english literature works throughout history to those of today. this program was new to severna park this year and american plays . . .

traditionally, english iii pupils became familiar with the life of hester prynne as they read the scarlet letter by nathaniel hawthorne. in addition, junior english students strove to improve their writing ability as emphasis was placed on composition this year.

besides reading novels and plays, the juniors studied contemporary american literature such as poetry and short stories encompassing the time of the colonists until today.

altogether, the english iii program aimed at helping students to develop critical thinking and clear, concise expression.

sophomores read julius caesar, once again, julius caesar captivated sophomores with its timeless theme and exciting plot. also, english ii students were exposed to short stories by authors of various nationalities.

a six-weeks unit in public speaking aided the sophomores in attaining poise while speaking for an audience.

learn to speak publicly creative writing even played a part in the curriculum, along with the multi-paragraph expository writing devised to enable the students to master the mechanics of expression.

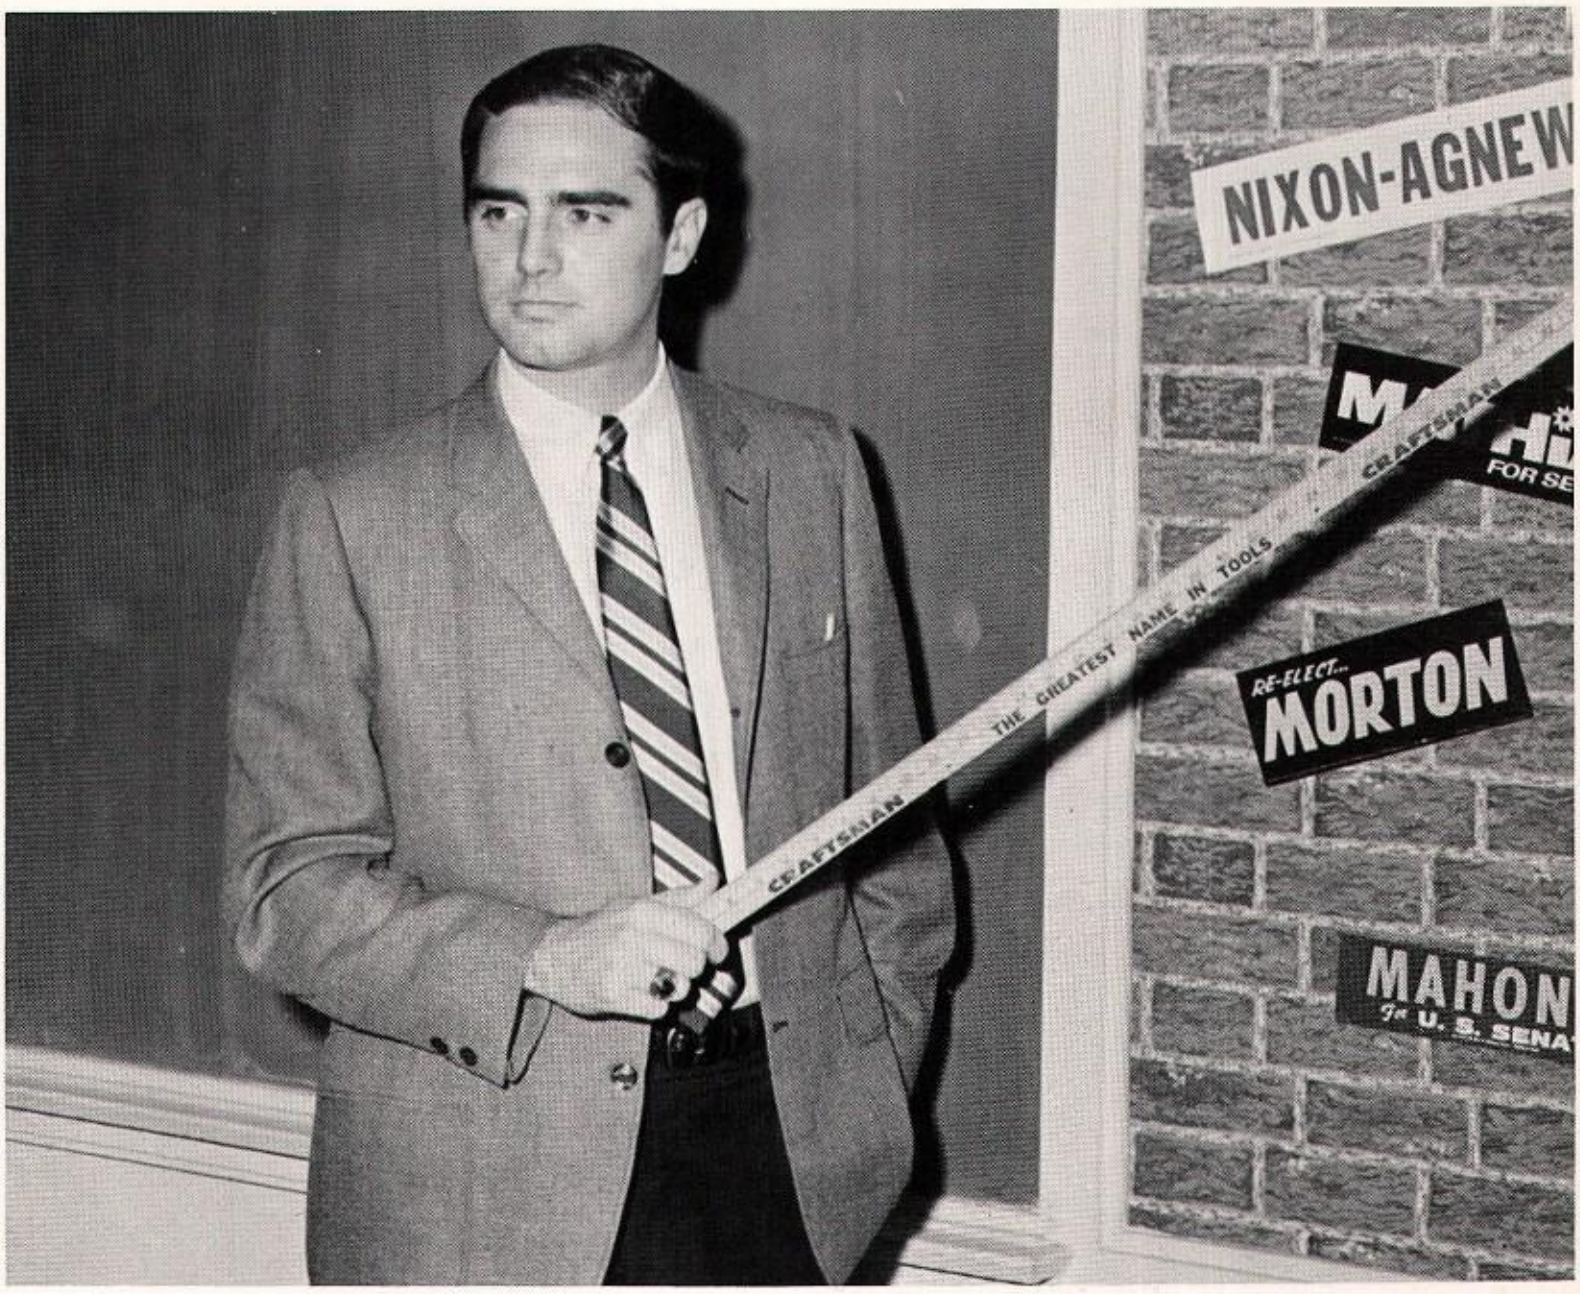
study economics, politics



the only civics teacher, mr. parr, furthered his students' understanding of current events and the rights and duties of citizenship. the freshmen in his classes studied local, state, and national government.

individual study in american history has been taught by mr. hoage for the past two years. these students were required to write two major papers a year which thoroughly analyzed a specific problem. in addition they attended weekly seminars where they discussed essays written on subjects such as social prejudice, treaties and philosophy.

in traditional american history courses, chronological events are emphasized. this is done in order to provide students with concepts which are analytical tools of economics necessary for effective citizenship.

election provides additional

the dramatic closeness of the 1968 presidential election captured the attention of the potc classes for at least the first six weeks of school. the remainder of the year included study in the area of functions and difficulties of modern american government domestically and in relation to other parts of the world.

mr. sprouse's economics classes elected his course which covered market mechanism, our productive system, labor unions, banking inflation, and the role of government.

pan american union hosts spanish

the el bodegon hosted spanish club students with its savory mexican and spanish food. also the pan american union and the national gallery of art were toured. doubtlessly, the emphasis on oral work in spanish i and ii helped in the students' communication.

in spanish iii, oral emphasis was continued but spanish literature, advanced grammar, word study, writing drills and creative composition were also important. similarly, spanish iv continues in this manner with increased emphasis on spanish history and literature.

french pupils create skits, culture, vocabulary and grammar preoccupied the french i and ii students. although these areas are also covered in french iii and iv, literature is stressed the most. in third year french, victor hugo's novel of world-wide reknown, les miserables is read in addition to topaze by pagnol. pêcheur d'islande is studied by french iv students, followed by an extensive unit on advanced composition. as in french iii, fourth year french students strive to improve their speaking and listening abilities by learning dialogues and poems.

mythology and stories about roman life add to the latin i curriculum, along with study in basic grammar and vocabulary. caesar's commentaries on the gallic wars, play a major part in the second year latin course.

and geometry prepare students for algebra - trig linear equations, formulas, and rationals become familiar to the algebra i students. likewise, these studies are continued in algebra ii where students encounter logic, problem solving, and irrational numbers. for college bound students, algebra-trigonometry encompasses real numbers, vectors, complex numbers and polynomials.

clerical practice achieves authentic office situation internal control, capital accounts and corporate organizations were familiar terms to all bookkeeping students. current business magazines and financial reports were utilized in aiding a clearer understanding of accounting principle.

the course offered in business math deals with consumer problems and is designed to help students familiarize themselves with problems arising from the operations of various businesses.

acquiring experience in working in a typical business office is the prime objective of clerical practice elected by third and fourth year students.

oriented student

a new addition to the curriculum, human physiology, acquainted the student with functions of the body, tissues, organs, systems, bone structure and generally, the anatomy of the human body.

the characteristics of atoms, molecules and methods of chemical bonding composed a major part of the studies in chemistry class. in addition, students became adept in balancing equations, performing experiments and calculating rates of reaction, gas volume changes and percentage compositions of compounds.

preparing students for college, zoology dealt with cellular and systemic physiology and morphology. countless specimens were collected and dissected.

physical concepts were developed and derived during the many laboratory experiments held in mrs. lovell's physics classes. also, pssc, for students who wish to make a career of physics, emphasized laboratory work and the discovery method.

labwork is essential part of

for the first time, human physiology was taught at severna park high school. providing a knowledge of man, the course revealed man's history, his relation to other organisms and his rise to a position of dominance in the biological world. visual aids such as a model of the human body were used extensively. throughout the lab-oriented course, students gained experience in blood typing, assessing muscle physiology and analyzing the skeletal system.

also new to severna park, publications, was organized for the editors of the newspaper and yearbook staffs. during this time, newspaper editors planned layouts, wrote articles and successfully struggled to meet monthly deadlines. conversely, the embers staff faced deadlines only on december 5 and february 5, while spending countless hours cropping pictures, drafting layouts and writing copy. while applying the knowledge gained from other english courses, these journalism students perfected their writing ability. rarely did one period suffice for the extensive and detailed planning which was necessary to produce the talon and embers.

cafeteria and custodial staffs perform vital services for school

fortunately, sphs students were able to be served their meals without the crowded conditions of the past, after reassignments of lunch periods were made. exclamations were uttered upon the return of regional student council representatives, that our cafeteria serves the best food in the county.

the industrious members of the custodial staff spent many long hours before, during and after school keeping sphs in good working order. besides familiar sights of janitors sweeping floors, shoveling sidewalks and mowing grass were also customary procedures.

seniors

. . . selected

by the outstanding class of 1969

following the tradition of previous severna park seniors, the class of '69 chose twenty individuals to receive the title of "senior superlative". above, on the opposite page, are tom latta and grace atwell, "romeo and juliet". fooling around on the maypole swings are the "class clowns", ron hibbard and linda jones. bob galloway and anne lyons (left), are "best-looking". the seniors who are "most likely to succeed", are bob kirkland and kathy jurmu. because of their dramatic abilities, charlotte shaw and jim gossard (right), are considered by their classmates as "most talented". the selection of the "senior superlatives" was made during an assembly held in the cafeteria in october. according to the many names that appeared on the ballots, the class of almost five hundred students apparently found it difficult to determine which members were the most outstanding. after many hours of tabulating, members of the embers staff determined the winners, who are shown on these four pages.

there were many aspects of high school life that were known exclusively by members of the graduating class. reciting the "tomorrow speech" in english iv and playing on the uneven bars at the senior girls slumber party were just two of the special privileges. other advantages included a reserved section at football games, a parking lot, and a bulletin board for class news. seniors finally learned what it's really like to attend classes and fight the crowded halls of sphs for the last few times. of course, each senior experienced different joys. the expression on kathy horn's face reveals her feelings when she realized, "my last yearbook picture is taken!" the entire class was able to experience the pride of producing the best homecoming float. to those skeptics who do not understand the correlation between a snow-cat and the joys of being a senior, use your imagination! only seniors were able to fully enjoy snow days, with the knowledge that no matter how little or how much snow fell, the school year would end for them on may 29!

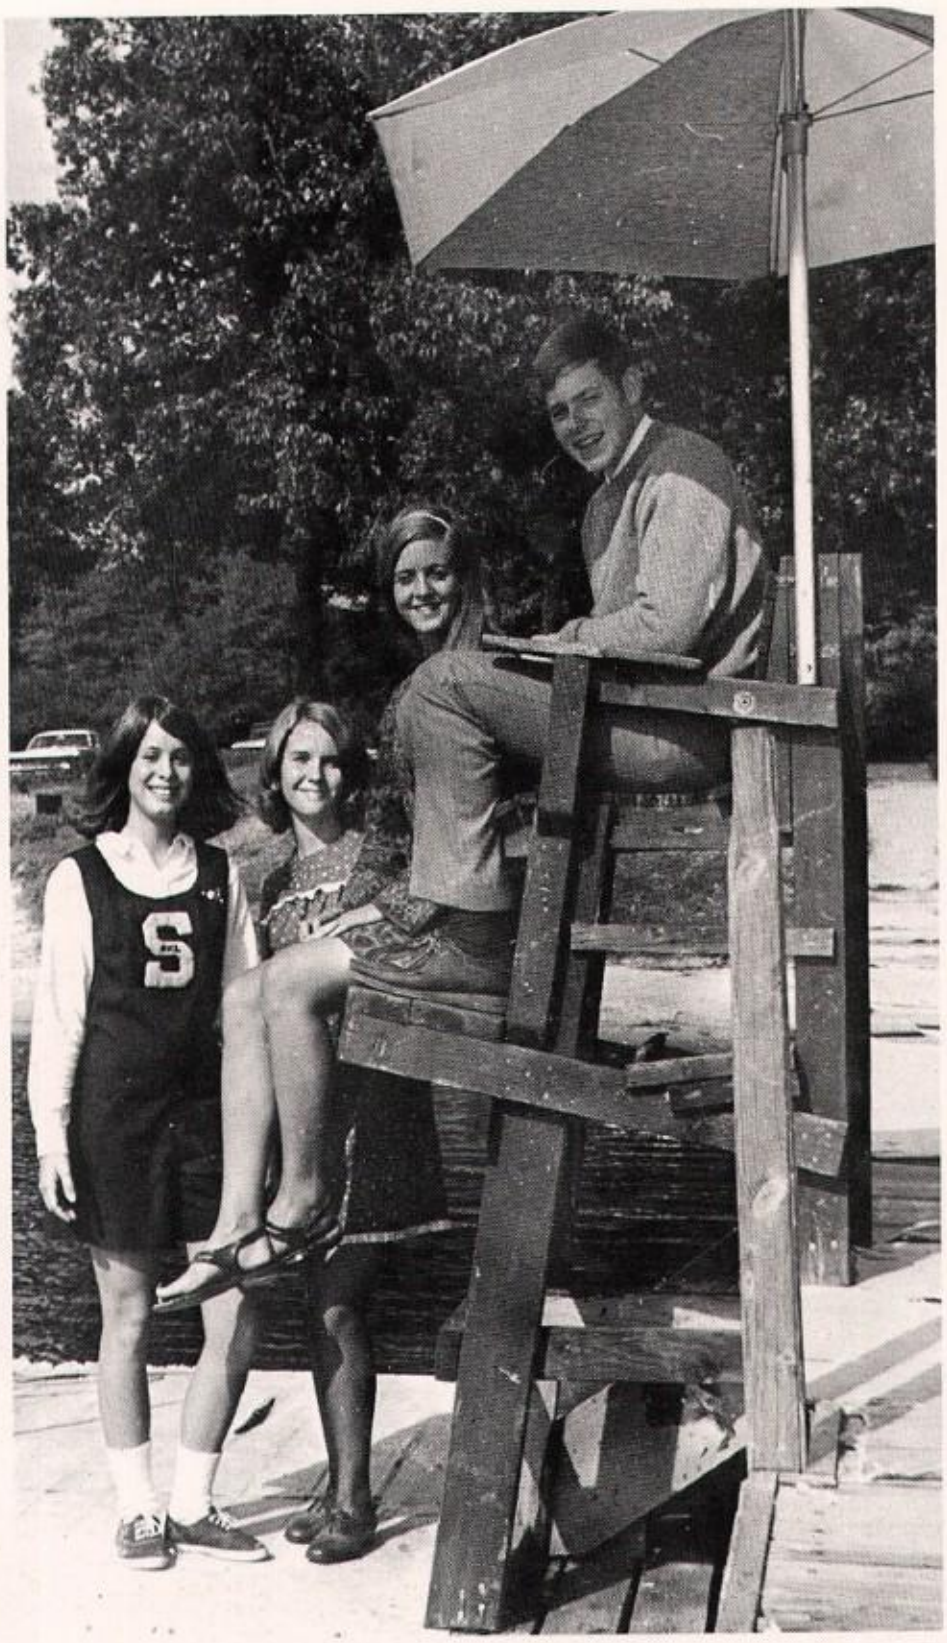
afs plays host to patchy and peter promoting better international relations and learning customs of foreign countries was the purpose of the severna park chapter of the american field service. this year our school was the proud host of two afs students, peter ricken of germany and patchy kumpukun of thailand. peter, being an amateur photographer, traveled all over the area taking pictures wherever he went, and patchy was amazed and delighted by the pizza sold at buzzy's. mrs. donna reed is the advisor of the severna park high school chapter.

at the right from top to bottom are this year's afs officers including peter ricken, afs student and honorary member, meredith holmes, president, tina nield, secretary-treasurer, and beth kappel, national officer. below is our other exchange student, patchy kumpukun.



junior mental health volunteers at crownsville state hospital

the junior mental health club of sphs has been extremely active this year with their volunteer work at crownsville state hospital. one of their main projects at crownsville was the setting up and operating of a community center where coffee houses were held on fridays. the club also had a fireball sale and went on trips to mental hospitals in the maryland-washington vicinity. the pictures on this page were taken at crownsville, where the girls were given a guided tour by one of the hospital staff. mr. arel powell is the club's advisor.

key club holds apple sale

the key club is a service club for boys from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades in high school. it is sponsored in cooperation with the school officials by a local kiwanis club composed of the leading business and professional men of the community. this year the key club of sphs had several projects including an apple sale, a road rally, a car wash and they cleaned up the "severna park revine". mr. ronald barger serves as the advisor.

the officers are at right including eugene korzeniewski, president; james gugliotti, vice-president; brad hopper, secretary; and jeff tassey, treasurer (not present).

astonished, estatic and filled with disbelief, fifteen inducties made their seemingly endless trek to the stage to be welcomed into the national honor society. composing the second 5% of the senior class, they were chosen on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship, and service. during the course of the year, service was demonstrated through a visit to the national luthern home for the aged in washington, d.c., and the annual project hope week when 10,000 tootsie pops were sold to offer financial aid to the ship hope. also, a pennies for knowledge drive was conducted in november to raise money for scholarships to be presented to four worthy seniors at graduation.

this year's officers were bob kirkland, president; julie lieb, vice-president; jean quesinberry, secretary; and laurie martin, treasurer. mrs. gladys sinicrope and mr. alvin mcwilliams are the club advisors.

tri-hi-y promotes high character tri-hi-y, an organization of the ymca, endeavors "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, the high standards of christian character." the club gives all members an opportunity to participate in the social and charitable affairs of the community. this year the tri-hi-y members were quite busy with filling a thanksgiving basket for a local needy family, sending a christmas package to vietnam, and of course, sponsoring bake sales to finance their activities. the club picture in the bottom shows the girls standing in a triangle, the symbol of the organization. miss julia rogers advises tri-hi-y.

the officers are pictured at right including inez rixse, president; chris ranes, vice-president; chris meyers, secretary, and jan estes, treasurer.

the social science club is designed to culturally benefit its members and offer them opportunities for experience in the fields of the humanities and government. in collaboration with the social studies department, the club held a mock election to determine the presidential favorite of the student body. they also made trips to the national gallery of art and the state department, and they held bake sales. mr. arthur tassey is the advisor to the club.

the officers are at right and include bruce hasfirther, president, david riegal, vice-president, karen muhl, secretary, and debbie hollis, treasurer.

french club is newly formed this year severna park high school once again has a french club. it was organized in october 1968 and has proven to be quite successful with its activities including a series of one act plays which were presented to the french ii classes at severna park junior high school in january, printing a monthly french newspaper, and participating in falcon fair. the club also made a trip to a french restaurant in washington, d.c. mrs. helen hammerstrom is the advisor.

latin club studies rome and greece

the clava latina is the school's classical organization. it was established by the students wishing to increase their knowledge of ancient civilizations, especially rome and greece. papers pertaining to classical themes are presented at the meetings, which according to the club's constitution, are held bi-weekly. the club presents awards at the end of the school year to the students with the highest averages in latin i and latin ii. the club went on field trips throughout the year to nearby spots which display classical architecture or contain information pertaining to rome and greece. mr. joseph kearney is the club advisor.

the officers are seated in the front row and include debbie dickey, president; cheryl wallring, vice-president; karen kalb (not present); and kathy hurley, secretary.

spanish club goes to wash. d. c. and holds a christmas pinata party the spanish club consists of second, third, and fourth year spanish students. this year the club went on their annual trip to washington, d.c., where they visited the pan american union and the national gallery of art. the piñata party, held on december 13, featured a papier maché piñata in the form of a donkey which was attacked enthusiastically for the candy inside. a special treat for the club was to have two boys from mexico, oscar and javier casillas, visit our school for nearly two months. mrs. josephine snellings is the club advisor.

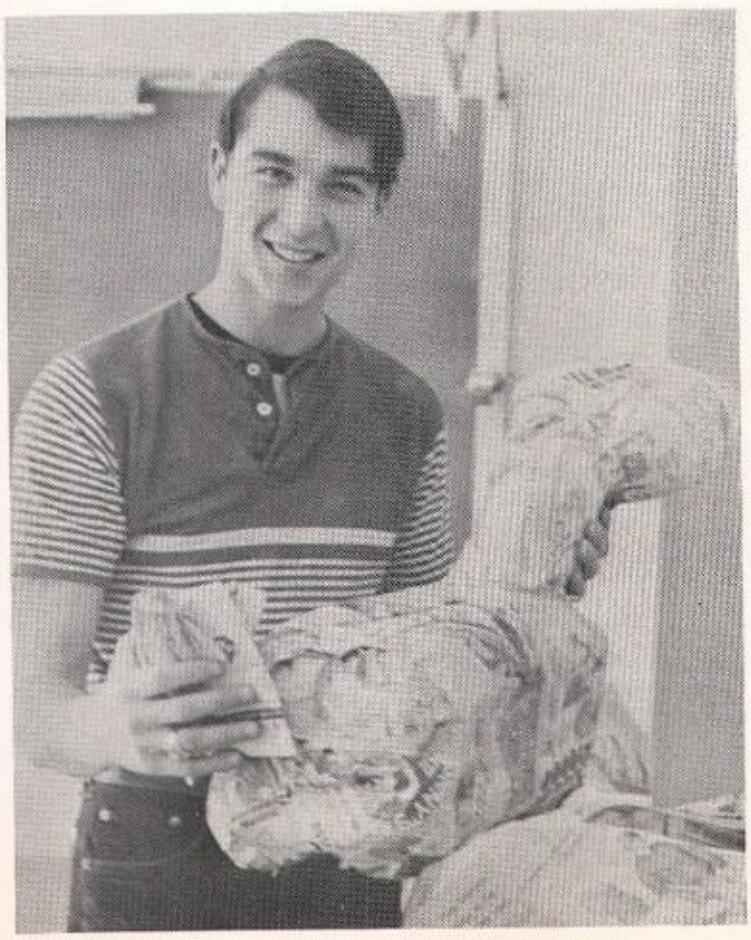
at right are the officers standing in front of the pan american union. they are julie lieb, president; laurie martin, vice-president; mary kay dent, secretary; and joyce wimmer, treasurer. below is richard baginski working on the christmas piñata.



business training sends many into the working world

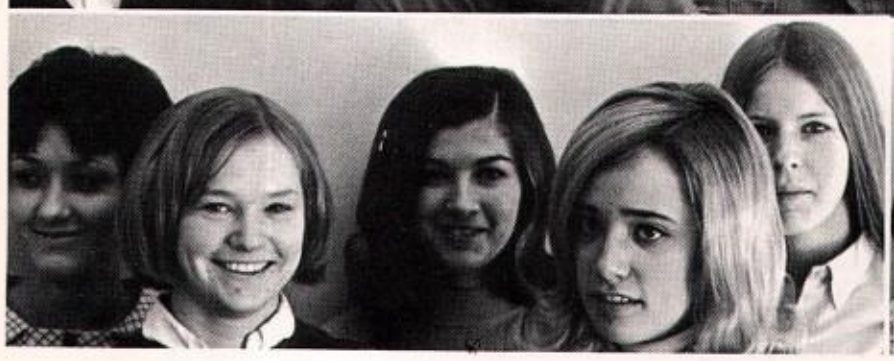
the official name of co-op is cooperative education. the purpose of this organization is to assist state associations in the growth and development of co-op, to promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive enterprise system, and to further develop a respect for education in data processing and clerical office practice which will contribute to vocational competence. the members of this club attend school for a half-day and then go to work. mr. francis evans and mrs. patricia wilhoit serve as co-advisors.

due to job hours the co-op students were unable to form at one point for a club. thus, individual officers were chosen for each class to carry out club business. the presidents are j. schneider, r. sawyer, and g. ridge; the vice-presidents are d. bost, j. hunt, and j. bauer; the secretaries are g. wajbel, l. taylor, and b. blanchfield; and the treasurers are r. mauk, n. shearer, and p. sauter.

co-op



deca, the distributive education clubs of america, is the nation-wide youth organization for high school and post secondary school students. its goal is the development of future leaders for marketing and distribution. the purposes of this club are two-fold. one is to develop a respect for education which will contribute to occupational competence, and the other is to promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive system. the members of this club attend school the first half of the day and then work the other half to put their business skills into practical use.

the future teachers of america organization is one which strives to give its members the opportunity to gain experience in and knowledge of the teaching profession. to accomplish these goals, the members go to an elementary school where they teach the classes for the day, and they also help high school teachers in a variety of ways.

the severna park chapter of fta is a member of the national association of future teachers. the officers at right are marty hopper, president; patty swindell, vice-president; mary stroh, secretary; and janet anderson, treasurer. mrs. ann mopsik advises future teachers (not shown).

fbla sponsors successful spaghetti dinner

the severna park chapter of the future business leaders of america develops competent business leaders and tries to create an interest and a better understanding about business occupations and techniques. this year fbla sponsored a spaghetti dinner and a candy sale, and also they made an annual contribution to the library. the fbla members hope to attend their national convention which will be held in dallas, texas in the summer of 1969.

the future homemakers of america is a club to help make girls better homemakers. in today's fast paced and often frantic world, a cool and competent homemaker is a basic necessity to keep her family on a steady course. this year severna park high school's chapter of fha attended their regional and state conferences. the club picture at right was taken at their regional conference at northeast high school.

the officers pictured below are president, sandra pulley (not present); vice-president, linda markey; secretary, debbie henson; and treasurer, burma lee manns. mrs. frances middleton serves as club advisor.

impulse provides outlet for creative talents during the entire school year the members of impulse, the school's literary magazine, offer the students a media for their creative talents. then, selecting the best prose, short stories, poems, plays, and art work, they incorporate these into their annual publication. thus, impulse gives the student body an opportunity to appreciate the creative talents of their fellow classmates.

the photography club tries to instill in its members a genuine appreciation for the photographic world around him, to instruct the students in the basic skills of photography, and to inform students of the varied fields of photography. the major activity of this club is the miss severna park high school pageant which raises funds to purchase equipment and films, and an educational field trip to a professional studio in new york. mrs. aileen warner is the club advisor.

the officers are standing in the back row and include jan ostrowski, president; cheryl morris, vice-president; and sandy lane, secretary. the treasurer, eric moseson, is standing on the far right as he had just run back to be present in the picture after setting his camera on a timed mechanism to take this picture.

the dramatics club presents its first play "our town"

each year the dramatics club presents two plays for the severna park area, and also competes with other high schools at an annual contest held at the university of maryland. this year the first play was our town, which is a modern play using only a few mundane props. through the steadfast guidance of mr. bowers and miss cook (center of page), the final product was polished and professional. some of the pictures on these pages, show members in the process of applying makeup and scenes from the play.

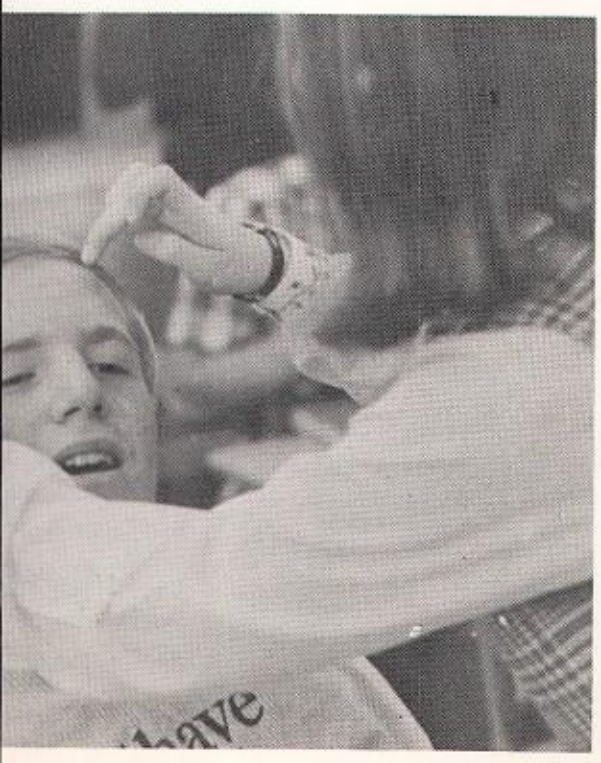
the national thespian society is a nation-wide organization devoted to the advancement of dramatic arts in secondary schools. troupe 2476, here at sphs, consists of 12 members, inducted into this honorary society for showing outstanding talent in various dramatic fields.



the embers staff

beginning as early as the summer of 1968, the 1969 embers staff strove to organize their ideas regarding cover design, page allotments, and new layout plans. this industrious effort continued day in and day out during publications class until december 5, the deadline. however, this brief amount of time rarely sufficed, resulting in long hard hours of work on weekends as well as late at night. this year's staff applied new techniques, which may seem revolutionary to the student body, but are presented in embers 1969 in an effort to improve it. finally, however, the long tedious hours of work were past, and each editor felt a sense of fulfillment that they had played a part in creating the 1969 embers.

talon flies up, up, and away with talon, the school newspaper, furnishes the students of severna park high school with information on school happenings in addition to entertaining articles and commentaries. this year the staff added another facet to the newspaper by including editorials on world affairs by the students. although working on a school newspaper may seem like easy work, it is complicated and time consuming. before each paper is issued, stories must be written and proofread many times, photos taken, developed and cropped, and ads designed. a few of the items of interest covered by the talon are letters to the editor, inquiring reporter, personalities of the month, editorials, and sports. miss aimee wiest is the advisor.

to those skeptics who do not see the connection between talon and the airport, use your imagination! after all talon is, so to speak, "flying high" with new ideas and inspirations.

audio visual aids provides a necessary service audio visual aids is a school service. the majority of the members are interested in the operation of equipment and learning about the audio visual media. the audio visual aids are in charge of getting materials to classrooms and arranging to secure films, tapes and records. mr. roger willis is the club advisor. zachary schlehaus is president.

fire brigade insures the safety of the student body during the fire drills in school, the boys in the fire brigade monitor the halls, thus aiding in the quick evacuation of the school. the members of the fire brigade are taught what to do in case of fire and are on call at any time to aid or extinguish a fire. mr. robert ruck is the club advisor. john evans is president.

safety council, stop, look, listen

the safety council, dedicated to enforcing school safety rules, was one of the school's most noteworthy and necessary organizations. each morning the squad on duty could be seen standing out on the school corner supervising the flow of traffic through the driveway. they also patroled the lavatories between classes. mr. roger willis was the advisor (at right).

the officers are bob kirkland, captain, and lieutenants sue phelps, marty hopper, ellen thompson, jim larson, john shepherd, bob hogan, bruce hasfurther, and joan slack.

stage crew is on the scene the stage crew played a large part in scenery construction for plays and also worked the light and sound systems for assemblies and other productions. among other projects this year, the members of stage crew worked hard in collaboration with the dramatics club on their productions. without the cooperation of the stage crew, our school would be unable to have many of the activities we now enjoy.

the officers are seated in the front row and include sheldon white, president; john white, vice-president; louise bowersox, secretary; and zack schelhaus, treasurer. mr. daniel higgs is the advisor.

the library is growing more each year. two new additions are the microfilm machine and the copy machine. by using the microfilm machine, students can read magazines or important news articles from past issues on film. the copy machine duplicates pages out of books and almost anything else for students and teachers. through these two machines and the addition of more books, the severna park high school library is making the process of learning easier and more enjoyable for the student body.

school store is a convience for students the school store is a convenience provided for the students and carries a wide variety of school supplies including paper, pencils, erasers, and a blessing to those with colds, 5¢ packs of kleenex. this year, a portable showcase counter was bought which enabled the school store to be located in the main entrance by the cafeteria before school and during lunch periods.

booster club charters buses to away games the booster club members take an active interest in school spirit and help to support our teams by chartering booster buses to games away from home. two of the booster club's main activities were making a float for the homecoming court for the parade, and promoting the pride and loyalty month held in january. miss sandra hogan is the sponsor of booster club.

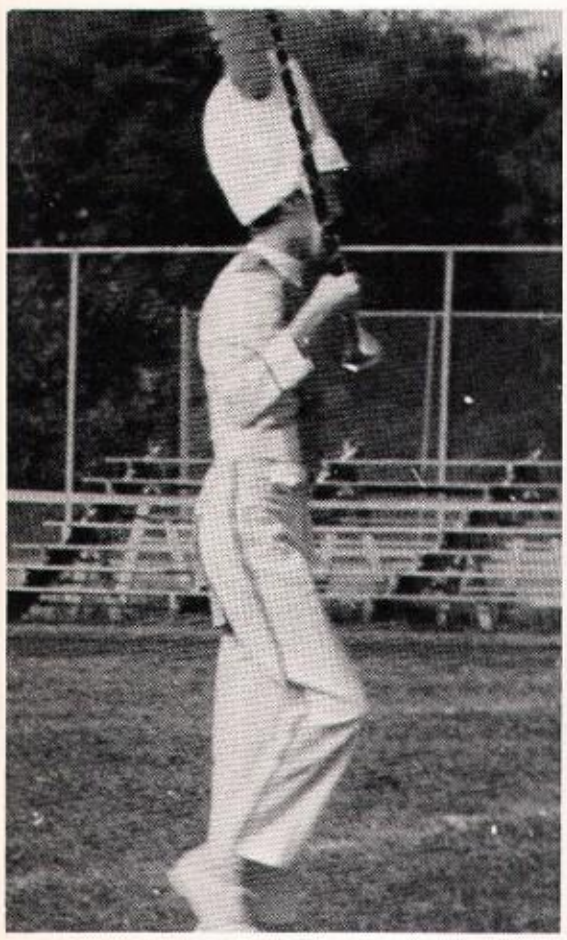
the officers below include kathy brown, president; kathy rembold, vice-president and secretary; and suzanne cummins, treasurer.

marching band; a new repetoire

this year the marching band has added many new songs to its repetoire, including "georgey girl" and "up, up and away". these new additions lend a fresh, young sound to their music which should give the students of severna park high school a sense of pride. one of the marching band's main objectives this year was to raise enough money through the selling of chocolate candy to enable them to buy new uniforms. mr. r. thomas powell is the band's hardworking conductor (center). denny byrne is the drum major (far left), and elayne isbell and ann sparks are the banner girls (left center). at the top of the opposite page, the band is shown marching (left) and the gun girls stand at attention (right).



concert band entertains assemblies

the concert band not only provides music during assemblies to entertain the student body, but they also hold a concert in the early spring. every member of the concert band has reached a high level of proficiency of their instrument and they practice every day during a regularly scheduled period. mr. r. thomas powell is the instructor of this group.

the officers are at left and include harold parr, president; larry willis, vice-president; jackie doney, secretary-treasurer; and denny byrne, drum major.

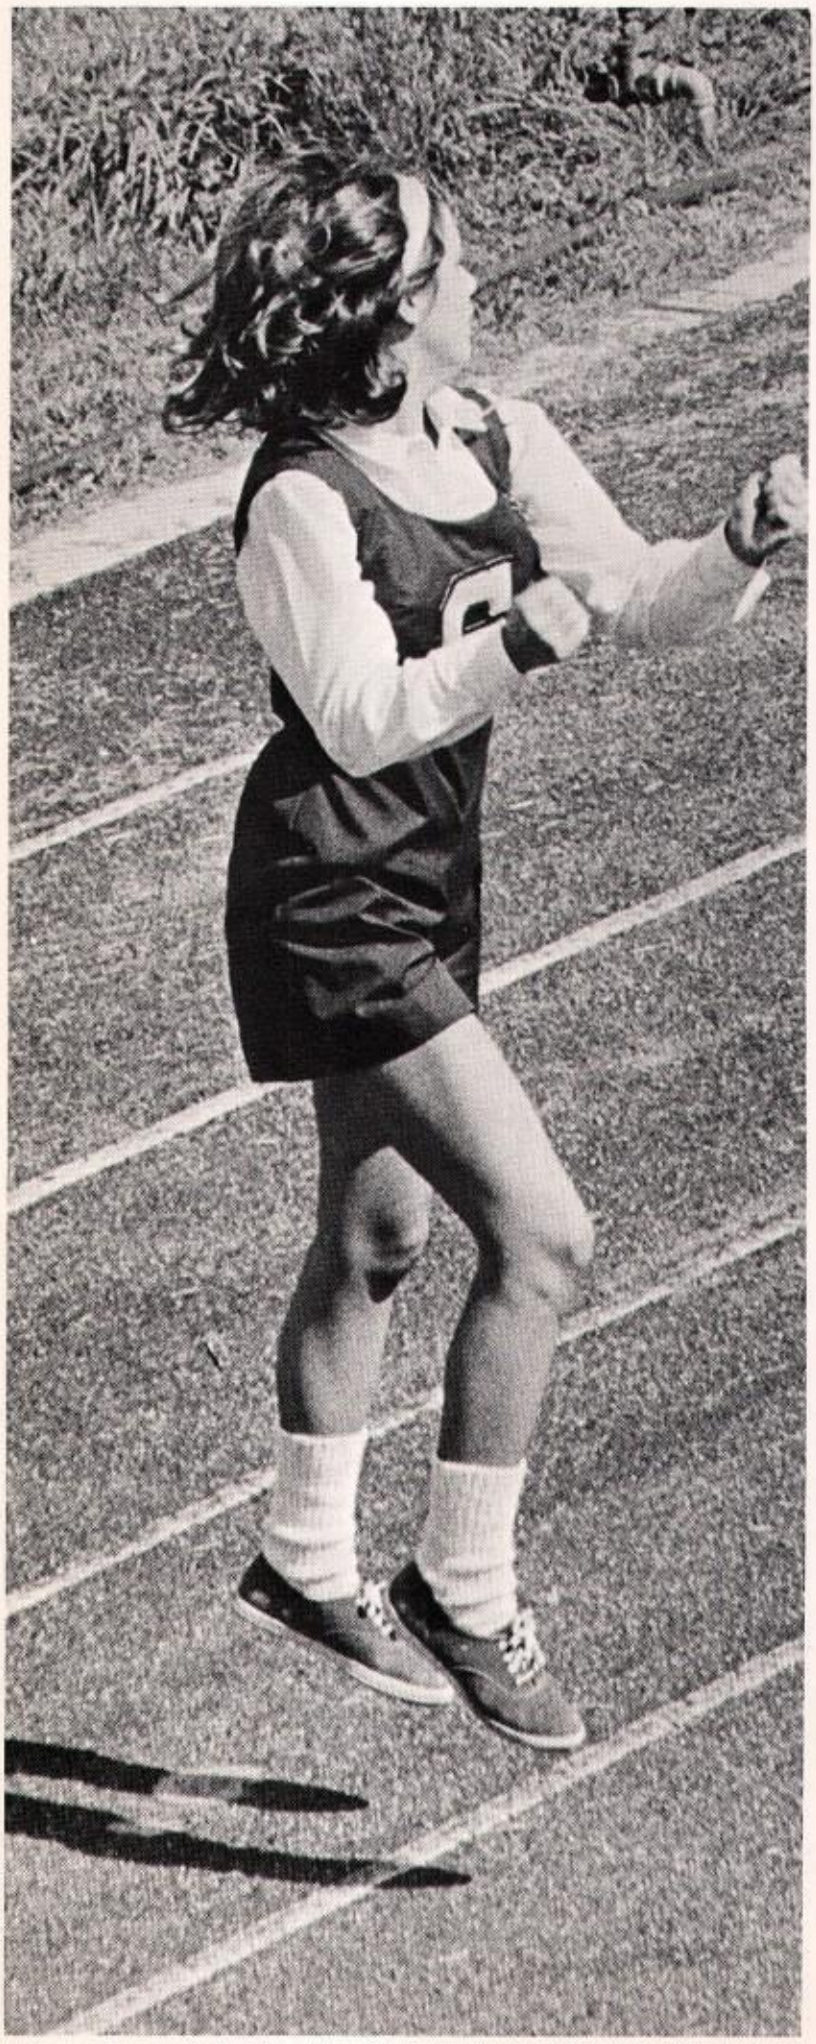
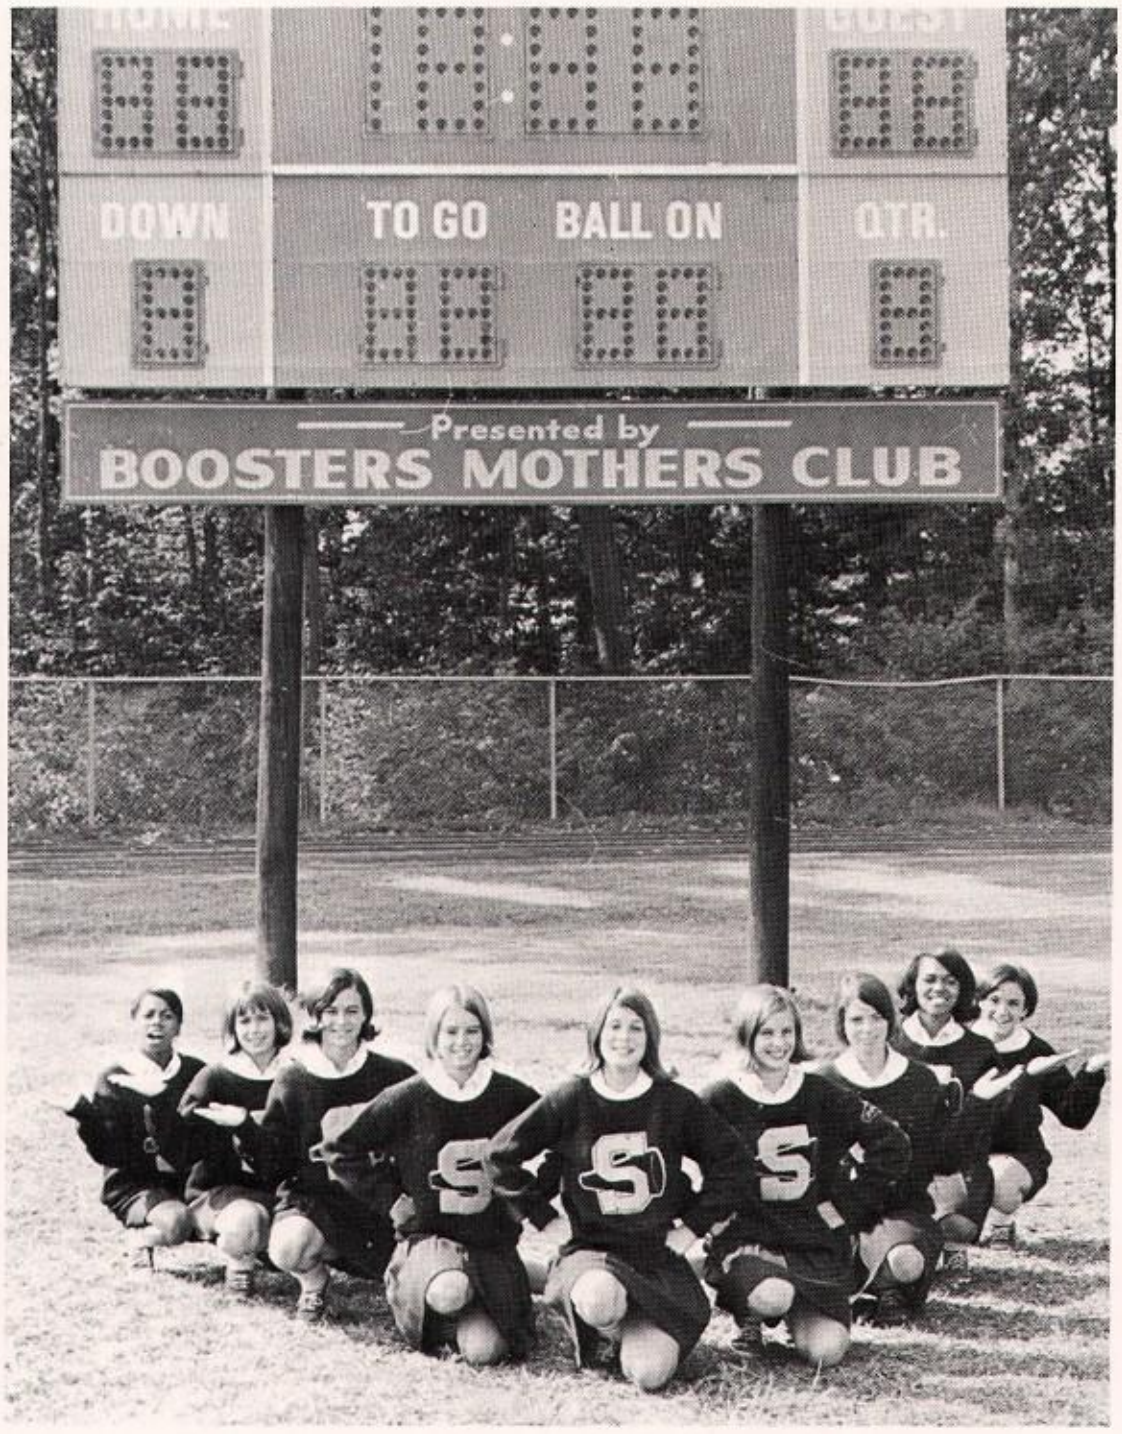
varsity and j.v. cheerleaders are the cheerleaders are an organization of girls who attend all games and cheer our falcons to victory. their cheers include stag and split jumps, and rhythmical clapping and stomping which increases the crowd's enthusiasm to a fever pitch. the precision of the cheers is not an accident as the girls can be heard practicing at least twice a week after school in the gym lobby. the members of this year's squad pictured at right include from left to right, diana henson, karen grant, ellen sun, secretary, sue gicqueleis, co-captain, beth kappel, captain, blythe lasely, jane cromwell, debbie henson, treasurer, and mary glover. miss donna dawson serves as the advisor.





behind the big team

the junior varsity cheerleaders go to all the junior varsity sports events and to the homecoming game. for the first time, the j.v. changed their uniforms to the eye opening gold vest and culottes which were a welcome change. this years j.v. squad pictured at left include from left to right sue phelps, jary jo lemieux, barb baker, carylin gregg, captain, carol phelps, karen swanson, co-captain, jackie childers, carrie wyda, and honey amantea.

falcon makes school spirit soar

the girls who wear the falcon costume are a vital part of every falcon game. these girls work in cooperation with the cheerleaders to boost school spirit, attending each game to cheer our falcons on to victory.

varsity falcons are in the top picture with the j.v. below. directly below are barb simendinger, chairman of the j.v. falcons, and sally smith, chairman of the varsity falcons.

majorettes display their skill

the majorettes are a selective group of girls affiliated with the marching band. these girls provide entertainment during half time at football games and help to promote school spirit. the most impressive feat the majorettes perform occurs during night games when batons become swirling orbs of torchlight.

the captain is chris meyers and co-captain is bea musgrove who are pictured at right.

the varsity s is a selective group of boys who are eligible for membership only after they have earned their letter in some sport. these boys direct the student body into seats when there is an assembly and then stand by as monitors. two important activities of the varsity s this year were a victory dance after our football team was defeated and a bonfire which was successful in bolstering school spirit and contributing to the turkey bowl game victory. the pictures of the club are in the shapes of a "v" and an "s" to represent the club's name, varsity s.

the interclub council is a special segment of the student council comprised of the presidents of clubs and classes. this group is a basic necessity as they insure that no two club activities fall on the same date.

student council completes a highly

the student council at severna park high school strives to develop responsible citizenship among students and to promote a constructive relationship between the faculty and student body. this organization allows students to participate in the school government and it encourages school spirit with worthwhile activities. through elected representatives, the student body is kept informed on matters varying from plans for falcon fair to proposed changes in the ever controversial dress code. among some of the activities student council sponsored this year were orientation, burmuda day, pretzel day, the senior slumber party and the thanksgiving food drive.

officers are gene munger, president; ronnie pramshufer, vice-president; june jeffcoat, secretary; and chris meyers, treasurer. mr. thomas shipley is the advisor.

successful thanksgiving food drive the thanksgiving food drive was the student council's community project. during the weeks of november 18, students were encouraged to bring in canned goods of all varieties and the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors competed to see which class could bring in the most. the overall school average was 138% which was equivalent to each student bringing in two cans. the seniors won the class competition. there was also an assembly at which a speaker came to inform the students of the poverty in anne arundel county and the many families who would ordinarily have no thanksgiving dinner without the help of severna park students. all in all, the food drive was a well conducted and highly successful campaign.

the social committee creates another memorable homecoming dance as a standing committee of the student council, social committee sponsors social events for senior high students. every year the social committee sponsors the biggest school event—the homecoming. the members chose decorations for the dance this year that were gracious and formal with the theme being "gone with the wind". the club also held bake sales and sponsored a spring dance. a new project, a christmas movie, was held this year for the children of the surrounding communities. mr. john boyle is the club advisor.

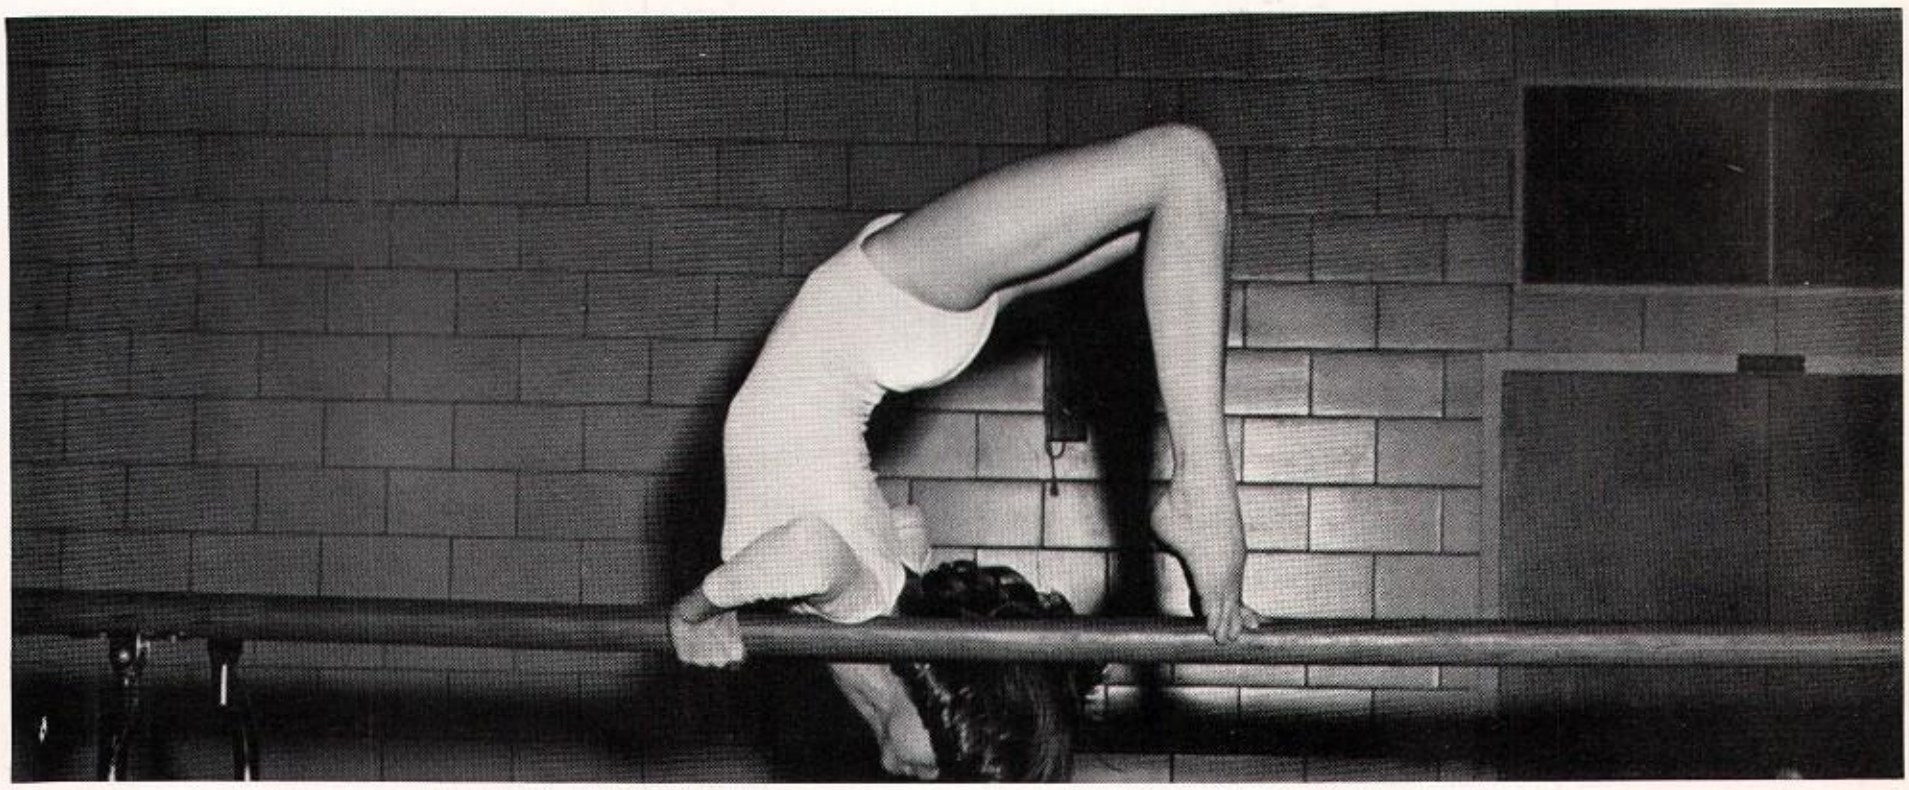
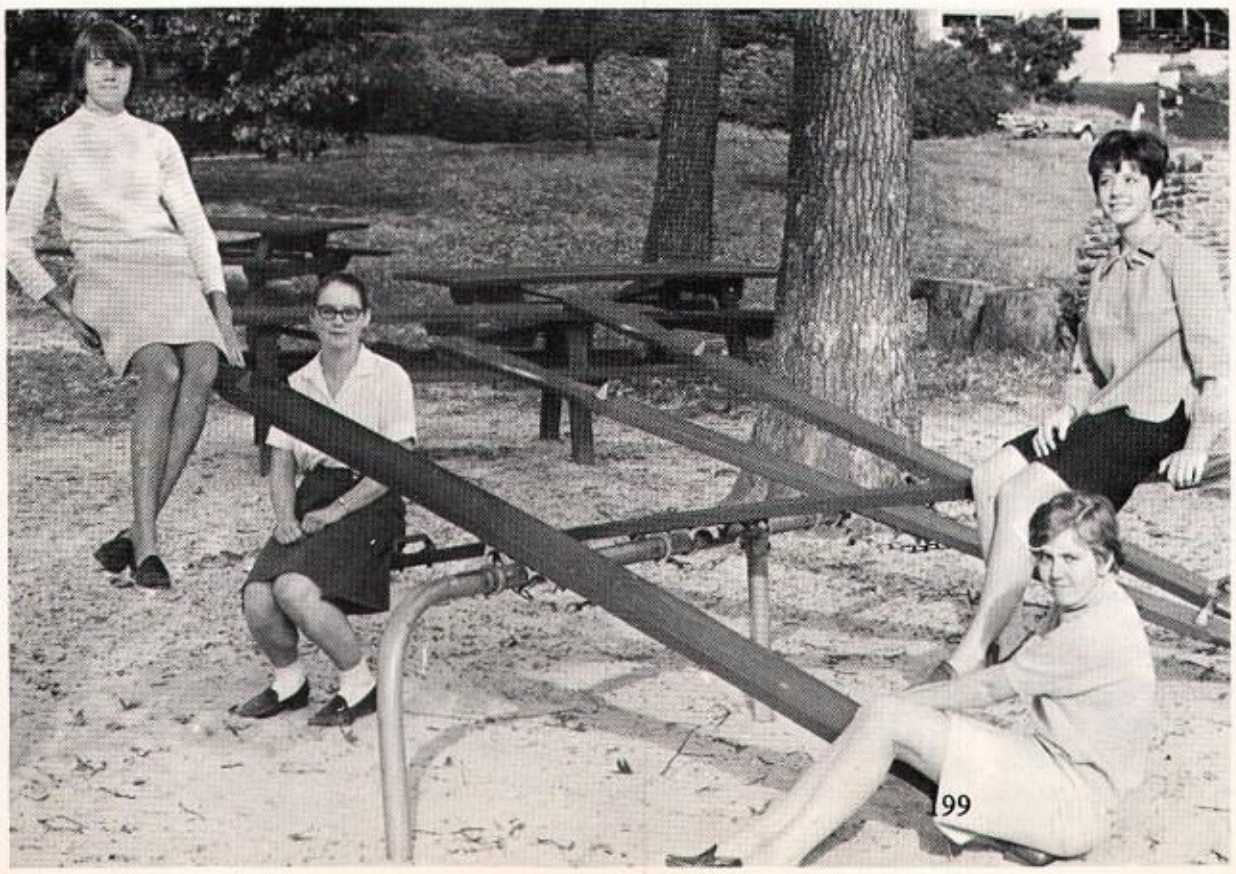
gaa offers girls fun and fitness





the girls athletic association is a member of a national organization which promotes interest and participation in athletics among the girls of severna park high school. the members are those who have earned 500 points or more in intramural sports, gymnastics, or in the bowling club. gymnastics is the most popular segment of gaa as the girls enjoy working out on a variety of equipment, including the trampolines, the parallel bars, the humpa-jumps, the bongo boards, and the balance beam. mrs. agnes turner is the advisor.

after a losing season in '67, the severna park falcons rebounded with a 6-3-1 record in '68.

the hard work that head coach george roberts and assistants andy borland and robert leake put into this years team, paid off in victories over brookland park, andover, southern, northeast, atholton, and annapolis.

this years team was spiced by a top notch offensive backfield and a hard-nosed defense which broke games open.

tom burnett drove for over 650 yards and bruce lawton averaged 8.1 yards a carry. junior speed merchant, steve jones also rumbled for 520 yards, good for 5.1 yards a haul.

senior quarterback, paul buckmaster and junior gary bridwell kept the opposing defenses guessing while averaging 10 and 8 yards a pass respectively.

in league competition, while the offense was averaging 3 touchdowns a game, the defense allowed less than 2 a game. seniors bob conklin, bob gorman and juniors mike thompson and bob shillinglaw were standouts for the falcons.

with a new winning attitude and a fine group of juniors, severna park can look forward to another winning season.

junior varsity posts a 6-2 record the severna park j.v.'s who have year after year provided faith for the future of the varsity team, didn't fail us this year, posting a 6 and 2 record. one of the key reasons for the continued success of this team is it's coach lowell c. moore. coach moore whose philosophy is, "your team is as good as it's worst player," has consistently molded well balanced, "all for one; one for all" football teams. the team got off to a flying start this season with 33-0 and 34-0 shutouts of brooklyn park and andover respectively. they continued their winning ways with a 28-6 victory over southern and then defeating glen burnie 20-12. however county champion annapolis halted our young falcons 6-0 and then a tough arundel team continued the skid with a 12-6 squeaker. fired up by a good weeks practice the falcons bounced right back by beating northeast 23-18 and then crushing atholton 28-12 the following week. also a great help to the team was coach carroll wentker and co-captains gary glatzel, ted gregory and rick mckelvey pictured below with coach moore.

the severna park cross country team got off to a slow start because of the loss of mr. preston, their coach for the last three years. mr. r. thomas powell, the new coach was well rewarded when the road runners compiled a 3-1 record in dual meet competition, 1st place in the spiked shoe invitational, and 10th place overall in the state meet. outstanding performers on the team were returning lettermen gene munger and jim gugliotti, junior jim levitt, and sophomores mike allen, dan wilcox, and randy freyer. the road runners opened the season with a 15-50 shutout of brooklyn park, the top seven from severna park crossing the finish line together. the team then took a 25-33 win over a tough atholton team. the only loss of the season was at the hands of cardinal gibbons. the 27-29 score reflects the fierce competition. the road runners sprung back the next week with a one-sided win over a fine annapolis team. the 1st place finish at the spiked shoe and the 10th place in the state finals, were the result of hard work, fine coaching, and an all out team effort.

"if we had won the close ones it might have been different season." this quote sums up the feelings of th '68-'69 falcon basketball team after finishing a frustratin season with a 5-14 record. losing two point contests t arundel, northeast and brooklyn park overshadowed th hustle and desire of the team which also suffered from lack of height. warner johnson and wayne dunham led th falcons and will return next year along with the hig jumping mike jennings. board work by jennings, bo gorman and bob conklin kept the team close in man games as they even out-rebounded some larger team along with the defensive work of junior greg wemmer an sophomore gary glatzel this years cage team never gave u with only three seniors on the team, next season could b the year of the falcon in the county.

j.v. falcons 6-14 for season the 1968-69 junior varsity basketball team was not very successful this season as they won only a handful of their games. the team had to reorganize itself after it lost several ey players who were elevated to the varsity squad this year. the team impressed crowds wherever they went as they played tough games and made the other teams flight for heir wins in several games the team even came from behind only to lose in the last few seconds. this occured in the annapolis and northeast games when the team lost by one nd three points respectively. their exciting and fast moving type of basketball aroused the home crowd, as the attendance at the j.v. games tripled over last season. the ighpoint of the season was the victory over arundel which opened the teams 1969 county competition. the team overcame the arundel halftime edge to lead after three eriods. then in the final period the boys managed to stall an arundel rally to win by two points. several key players under coaches ronald wagner and james butner were greg hitman, mike papenberg, craig crockett, and rocky glendenning.

this years wrestling team, under the direction of coach lowell moore, was one of the best in severna park history with a record of 9-1. severn forfeited to the mighty falcons who then wholloped atholton 34-14. the team then rolled into, over, and out of annapolis with an unpresidented 60-0 win. they continued their winning ways by beating county powerhouse glen burnie 25-17 in a match which was decided by bruce ford's pin in the last contest. arundel then crumbled under the might of our team by a score of 51-3. the only loss of the season was to southern 27-19. the whole team worked together under coach moore and didn't let up all season. standouts for the falcons were denny roberts, dave sims, wayne brown, joe abruzzo, doug campbell, bill fish, and bruce ford.

j.v. wrestlers 10 and 0 for 1968-1969

the j.v. wrestlers went undefeated for the second season. co-captains mark larson and rick kellough lead the many talented wrestlers to a 10-0 season. bolstered by several former varsity lettermen the team opened its season by shutting out atholton 54-0. they went on to defeat annapolis 48-2 and didn't lose a match all season. coach moore points out the keen competition and tremendous spirit as the winning factor behind this team. standouts for the team were charlie shindler, terry fletcher, mike schweitzer, rick kellough, and mark larson.

empty desks, silent halls, windows closed, shades drawn—all these typify the close of school. for those who graduate, it is the beginning of a new mode of life, for others it is a pause in a history as yet incomplete.

nationally, 1969 was the year of a new president and the success of the apollo flights. it is hoped that through the 1969 embers you will be able to remember the moments most significant to you, encompassing all aspects of your school life.

many long hours were spent in compiling this yearbook, and i would like to express special thanks to mr. james stevens who continually offered his support and encouragement in the completion of our efforts. in addition, each staff member is to be commended for his interest and hard work, especially our student photographers, john mcclure and eric moseson on whom we relied heavily. new ideas were experimented in the area of photography, organization, and general layout. producing this yearbook has been without a doubt, one of the most rewarding experiences one individual can have. we hope our attempts to capture events of the past year were successful enough to help you recall 1969 as your best year ever.
